GLORY IN CHAOS

The background is a high-contrast photograph of a mountain range. In the foreground, dark, jagged rock formations are silhouetted against a lighter sky. The middle ground shows rolling hills and valleys with sparse vegetation. In the distance, more mountain peaks are visible, some with patches of snow. A semi-transparent dark rectangular box is centered over the image, serving as a background for the text.

Judges 1:22-2:5

JUDGES 1:22-2:5

- MAIN IDEA: God always does what is right whether He's dispensing the justice people deserve or the mercy that we don't.
- Divine justice (22-26)
- Driving halfway (27-36)
- Divine mercy (2:1-5)

DRIVING HALFWAY (27-36)

- Pragmatic success masks spiritual failure
- Small concessions lead to catastrophic compromise
- Failing to follow through leads to spiritual apathy
